BELLS FERRY
LCI PLAN UPDATE

Cherokee County

Community Open House

Please take some time to explore the boards displayed around the room. These boards present the draft recommendations developed for the Bells Ferry corridor. These recommendations are based on community input, technical analysis, and collaboration with Cherokee County. This is your opportunity to review and learn about proposed projects, policies, and design concepts that aim to create a safer, more connected, and vibrant community along Bells Ferry Road.

The Livable Centers Initiative (LCI) Program, administered by the Atlanta Regional Commission (ARC), supports local efforts to foster walkable, mixed-use neighborhoods with improved mobility options, healthy lifestyles, and access to jobs and services. While the LCI program provides the framework and standards for planning, it is important to note that this study was fully funded and managed by Cherokee County. The County is undertaking this update to meet all requirements of the LCI program, tailoring the plan specifically to local priorities and needs.

Please share your feedback by scanning the QR code below to access the online comment form, or by filling out the form on the back of this handout. You can submit your form to any project team member before you leave. Your input will help shape the final plan and ensure it reflects the community's vision for the future of Bells Ferry!
